How Social Security Can Help You When a Family Member Dies

You should let us know as soon as possible when a person in your family dies. You should also give the deceased’s Social Security number to the funeral director as they usually report the person’s death to us.

Some of the deceased’s family members may be able to receive Social Security benefits if the deceased person worked long enough in jobs insured under Social Security to qualify for benefits. Contact us as soon as you can to make sure your family gets all the benefits they’re entitled to.

Please read the following information carefully to learn what benefits may be available.

- We can pay a one-time payment of $255 to the surviving spouse if they were living with the deceased. If living apart from the deceased and eligible for certain Social Security benefits on the deceased’s record, the surviving spouse may still be able to get this one-time payment. If there’s no surviving spouse, a child who’s eligible for benefits on the deceased’s record in the month of death can get this payment.

- Certain family members may be eligible to receive monthly benefits, including:
  - A widow or widower age 60 or older (age 50 or older if disabled).
  - A widow or widower of any age caring for the deceased’s child who is under age 16 or disabled.
  - An unmarried child of the deceased who is either:
    - Younger than age 18 (or up to age 19 if they’re a full-time student in an elementary or secondary school).
    - Age 18 or older with a disability that began before age 22.
  - A stepchild, grandchild, stepgrandchild, or adopted child under certain circumstances.
  - Parents, age 62 or older, who were dependent on the deceased for at least half of their support.
  - A surviving divorced spouse, under certain circumstances.

If the deceased was receiving Social Security benefits, you must return the benefit received for the month of death and any later months. For example, if the person dies in July, you must return the benefit paid in August. If received by direct deposit, contact the bank or other financial institution and ask them to return any funds received for the month of death or later. If paid by check, do not cash any checks received for the month the person dies or later. Return the checks to Social Security as soon as possible.

Keep in mind that eligible family members may be able to receive death benefits for the month the beneficiary died.

Contacting Social Security

The most convenient way to do business with us from anywhere, on any device, is to visit www.ssa.gov. There are several things you can do online: apply for benefits; get useful information; find publications; and get answers to frequently asked questions.

Or, you can call us toll-free at 1-800-772-1213 or at 1-800-325-0778 (TTY) if you’re deaf or hard of hearing. We can answer your call from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., weekdays. You can also use our automated services via telephone, 24 hours a day. We look forward to serving you.